WRATHER PROBABILITIES —For this section fair tonight and probably Tuesday; rising temperature Tuesday; light variable winds.

THE MACHINISTS' STRIKE.—The action of some of the machinists employed at the Southern Railway shops in this city is still a theme of much interest among railroad mev. There was another meeting Saturday night at which forty-two machinists from other cities were present. None of the participants would talk, and it was impossible to accertain what further action would be pursued. The railway officials had nothing to say and the machinists being equally reticent it was necessary to wait until today for further developments. At six o'clock this morning a number of workmen and others were around the depot, and it was said six with those with which it is to connect. more machinists employed in the shops would resign their positions and join the ranks of those whose services were dispensed with Saturday. There is some bitterness expressed toward the officials of the company for their action in discharging the men who attended Friday night's meeting, but others take a different view of the procedure, and a different view of the procedure, and think it was the best course under the circumstances. The status of the men is much better, as they can be taken back at any time they were discharged, at had they struck, under the rules of the company they would have been forever ineligible for positions.

The report that other machinists would quit work proved erroneous, and everything today has been progressing quietly. There was but one of the employees of the Midland shops at Saturday night's meeting. It is said that the unions in other places contributed $1000 for the purpose of pretributed $1 000 for the purpose of pre-cipitating and continuing a strike at

FUNERALS.—The funeral of the late July Daingerfield Brookes, who died suddenly at Mobile, Als., Wednesday morning last, took place from the resi-dence of his parents, 701 Prince street, on Saturday evening. ANOTHER TRACK .- A force of lais being run in a southeasterly direction from the tunnel, and will connect with the track which has been laid to Jones's Point. No notice had been given by the company of its intention to construct this spur, the first intimation being a force of laborers appearing on the scene this morning and the plowing up of Wilkes street east of Lee. The railway company owns the northern half of Windmill Hill to the channel bank, and after they cross Wilkes street are on their own property, but there is some diesatisfaction charming luncheon on Tuesday at her charming luncheon on Tuesday at her channel bank, and after they cross Wilkes street are on their own property, but there is some disastisfaction among residents of the neighborhood at the digging up of the street running east from Lee street, and they think the company should be compelled to regrade the square and place it in the condition they found it. Otherwise it will be impassable for vehicles, as it will be necessary to make a deep out in order to place the new track on a level with these with which it is to connect.

AFTER CHURCH LOAFERS.—Rev. H. J. Cutler at both services at St. Mary's Church yesterday morning gave notice that he was about to innugurate heroic measures against young men and boys who congregate in the front of that church on Sunday, smoking cigarettes and stareing at people who enter or leave. He said he had secured the names of all who were addicted to the practice, but would not read them out at present. He gave notice, however, that it was his purpose to procure them all and should the annoyance be continued he would let the congregation know from the sitar who are the offenderer. Father Cutler said worshippers who as in the lower pews of the church who as in the lower pews of the church.

He said he had secured the manue of all who were addicted to the practice, but would not read them out at present. He gave notice, however, that it was his purpose to procure ers. Father Cutler said worshippers who sat in the lower pews of the church had complained of the annoyance occasioned by such conduct, as their at-tention was often distracted from the services by it. Should this course prove ineffectual the services of the police will be brought in'o requisition and the offenders prosecuted according to law. It is thought the same methods will be adopted by the pastors of other churches who suffer from the chronic annoyance.

THE CHILDREN'S DAY services in the Methodist Protestant Church yesterday were of an interesting character. In the morning the pastor preached to the children. At night the school held its annual children's service. The altar was very prettily decorated and was a bank of palms and potted flowers. A cross of roses stood in the centre upon which was placed a golden crown. An arch of flowers overspread all and underneath in green were hung the words:
"Japan our Field." The singing by
